

Click on the "Click here to get ready" button to start the exam:

The screenshot shows a user interface for a test. At the top, there is a dark navigation bar with three tabs: "My tests", "Archive", and "Demo tests". Below this, the date "November 2015" is displayed. A blue header bar contains a "Group" icon and the text "The exam started 2 days ago". The main content area features a "Random group delivery" section with the dates "November 24, 2015 10:00 AM" and "November 30, 2015 12:00 PM". Below this, two informational messages are shown: "You are not assigned to a group" and "You have not delivered". At the bottom, there is a prominent red button labeled "Click here to get ready".

The student must choose either to "Join existing group" or "Create new group". She has to communicate with her fellow group members outside of the system to decide the members of the group and if the group has been created or not. If the group is not created yet, click on the "Create new group" link:
